This article is the last in my Best Alternative to Windows 10 series - what else is there in the Windows Store? I've already covered Sublime Text and PhotoStructure, and today I'm going to explore a couple of highly recommended full-featured productivity apps. Today we're going to take a look at TripWire, my favorite security/antivirus app (I use it a lot on my Mac and Linux computers). It does a lot of other things, but we'll stick with just security for now. It may look like the same old antivirus app as the one we all know from Windows 7, but in fact it's a lot more than that! For starters, it has a lot of custom categories and can potentially protect far more of your data than those apps that most users know of. Tripwire can be used right out of the box, and an.exe installer is included - no need to install a 3rd-party app to set it up. Once installed, the app runs as a process in the background, and it's easy
